EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Kosovo has had challenges in regards to waste management and environmental issues. These challenges, the prioritisation of the environment by society and institutions, and lack thereof, have made us reflect and take a different approach by gradually making the environment one of the key priorities of our local and central government and raising awareness in the society. Waste management in municipal level has been done based on an existing plan that the municipalities have had for years, which was more of a regular contract with local waste management companies, without clear strategic goals and objectives. However, the amount of waste, especially the waste caused by irresponsible business entities has exceeded the capacity of municipal waste management companies, including Let's Do It capacities despite its continuous growth and engagement. Since 2012, Let's Do It as the largest environmental organization in Kosovo, has undertaken multiple campaigns to advocate for a clean environment, focusing especially on waste management. In order to raise awareness on the importance of a clean environment, Let's Do It Kosovo has organized continuous clean up activities throughout the country, calling citizens to preserve the environment and respect the environmental legislation.

Let's Do It has gathered thousands of volunteers through the years. However, despite the activities and campaigns, there is still significant lack of responsibility by citizens and business entities, who have often repeated their destructive behavior by throwing waste in the places that have already been cleaned up. Twenty years after the last war and ten years after Kosovo's independence, the environmental situation has improved. The Government of the Republic of Kosovo, and the Prime Minister himself has put country's clean up as a key priority. This decision has been welcomed by the citizens of the country. As a result, 32 municipal task forces have been established. These task forces are led by senior local government officials. Even after the three-month campaign ended, Let's Do It and the municipality teams remain committed to continue the activities with the sole objective of removing all the illegal landfills in Kosovo. In support of this engagement, the relevant institutions have intensified the implementation of the Administrative Instruction MESP - no. 14/2015, in Mandatory Fines. Full implementation of the current legislation would solve the waste management issue, and would enable us to focus on other environmental challenges such as water, air, and protection of forests. Moreover, Let's Do It Kosovo has mobilized and created a synergy between local and central institutions, civil society and business sector to work on making a better and cleaner environment for everyone. Volunteers, have been vital for the campaign to succeed. They have been engaged in clean-up actions, and have been of great impact to people around them in regards to raise awareness. During the campaign, our activists have talked to people, received their suggestions and recommendations on how to increase the impact of the campaign in the society. Let's Do It has organized meetings with citizens, institutions, as well as debates with the media. Trainings with students, teachers and professors in primary and high schools in all municipalities have also taken place, aiming to mobilize the society for a sustainable environment. Moreover, the campaign has accomplished to prove that our society is capable to cooperate for the challenges that concern them and the area where they live in. Concretely, local and central institutions including civil society, citizens and waste management companies proved that they can cooperate and share responsibilities to achieve results for everyone's good for a clean environment.

INTRODUCTION

Taking into consideration the successes of the past years that the campaign of cleaning the waste from illegal locations has reached, and that the problem of illegal waste and landfills continued to be one of the outstanding environmental problems of Kosovo society, Let's Do It has successfully been addressing this problem in local and central institutions in Kosovo, demanding that substantive actions must be taken on waste issue and that those actions to pave the way for solving the problem of waste and illegal landfills throughout Kosovo. Dozen of meetings have been held with the Government of Kosovo and other relevant institutions to share the vision of the campaign 'Let's clean up Kosovo'. After analyzing the results and goals of Let's Do It, the Government of Kosovo decides to support the campaign Let's clean up Kosovo' and that this campaign lasts three months, starting from 15 September to 15 December 2018. The involvement of the Kosovo Government and the Ministry Environment and Spatial Planning started in the early days of the campaign, thus continuing with the involvement of other relevant institutions. After much efforts and regular discussions with relevant institutions, in the summer of 2018, Let's Do It receives strong support from the Prime Minister of Kosovo and the pledge that he personally with his cabinet will support all campaign operations to secure a clean Kosovo, and made a decision for the participation of all civil servants in the 15 September 2018 action. At this stage, Let's

Do It with the support of Prime Minister Ramush Haradinaj started engagements to work with all relevant institutions to design the operational plan of Kosovo's three-month cleansing from illegal waste and landfills. Following the decision of the Kosovo Government for the establishment of the Task Force consisting of 12 institutional and civil society stakeholders and coordinated by the Ministry of Environment and Spatial Planning, 32 other municipalities decided to establish Task Forces of their own in order to manage the work in the ground. All municipal stakeholders have drafted a three-month action plan for the implementation of the action Lets Clean Up Kosovo aimed at increasing the engagement of institutions for environmental protection and protection in Kosovo, organizing citizens to address environmental problems, cleaning and other environmental activities with a special focus on waste management and maintenance of green spaces..

On September 15, 2018, the Let's clean up Kosovo campaign was foreseen to extend to the entire territory of the Republic of Kosovo, in order to remove the waste around all objects of public institutions. The Government of Kosovo took the decision that on September 15, 2018, all civil servant, pupils and students should be in cleaning actions. Further, the decision provides for all waste collected on September 15, 2018 to be obtained from public companies of waste management and sent free of charge to regional landfills. Logistical assets for the action of September 15, 2018 were distributed to all municipalities two days before the cleaning action and it was decided that in all municipalities of Kosovo the action must be opened by the mayors and then the participants must be distributed to the locations designated for cleaning. Taking into consideration the previous experience of Let It Do It with the cleaning campaigns, hundreds of volunteers and civil society organizations mobilized to contribute to this campaign. In each municipality, the campaign had engaged local coordinators who took care of the technical part of the organization at the call center where information was collected throughout the day about the progress of the action, the number of volunteers and the amount of waste removed. Let's clean up Kosovo' campaign was followed by all local written and electronic media, supported by awareness activities as promotional videos through which it was called for participation in the cleaning actions, it was broadcasted on all Kosovo televisions, the presence of the exponents of the campaign has also been on the "O sa mire" TV series with the topic of environmental protection, including artists, athletes and public figures in the awareness campaign and in the cleaning actions. At the concluding conference, the results of the campaign will be presented and the prize for the winning municipalities of the MESP grant will be awarded.

CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES

One of the main tasks that was foreseen is implementation of Administrative Instruction for punishments with mandatory fines No 04/2015, which is signed from Ministry of Environment and Spatial Planning. Eventhough, this Adminstrative Instructionr has begun to be implemented from many municipalities and other revalent institutions, it still remains to be implemented from all local and central institutions as soon as possible and in a intensive dynamic, in the way to make sure that irresponsible people and business entities will stop their actions of dumping waste on not intended places and to receive the deserved punishment. It is vital that Administrative instruction for mandatory fines should be implemented without wasting time. As well, institutions should increase their commitment straight to the implementation of all environment frame, which supports and promotes clean and sustainable environment in Kosovo. In this way we can increase trust in our society, as much as possible, in the way to bring back sustainability of environment by working together On the other side as a society, in front of us we have opportunities to engage citizen, institutions and the business sector to contribute together for sustainable environment, for which Let's Do It considers that Kosovo society with support of institutions is ready like never before.. The success of campaign Let's clean up Kosovo should be motive to engage everyone as society that this model should continue and should be widen in other environment challenges.

“This three-month action was necessary needed for our country, which has met all the criteria. I think this action should last next year too, backing the fines of unconscious citizens, and that would be more effective.

REMOVED DUMPSITES

FROM NOW ON

Progress in Transformation of the Environment.

Kosovo intentions to ensure the improvement of the environmental situation in Kosovo, are hopeful. Kosovo institutions has started to put environmental topics on their municipal and government agendas. Day by day, local and international authorities, including civil society and media are treating topics for environment. Let's Do It stays dedicated to its own missions for Kosovo with sustainable environment, and to achieve its purpose will work with each local and international authority.

In this endeavor, critic is the role of local and central institutions, including International institutions that act in Republic of Kosovo.

ACTIVITIES 15 September – 15 December, 2018

The general clean-up and removal of landfills and wastes began on 15 September 2018 in all municipalities of Kosovo, including the Serb majority municipalities. During this action, in which more than 100,000 volunteers participated, over 150 landfills and over six thousand (6,000) tonnes of waste have been removed, as confirmed by the Kosovo Landfill Management Company (KMDK). The official opening of the biggest cleaning action was done in Pristina in “Emshir” neighborhood, by the Prime Minister, Ramush Haradinaj and the Minister of Environment and Spatial Planning, Fatmir Matoshi. In the official opening except the Prime Minister, and the Minister of Environment and Spatial Planning, were present also other ministers of the Government of Kosovo. Also in this action participated the Minister of Tourism and Environment in Albania, Blendi Klosi with a group of volunteers, the Ambassador of Norway to Kosovo, Për Strand Sjaastad, representative KFOR, KSF, Kosovo Police, various civil society organizations, private companies, students of primary and secondary schools and students. The action started in the “Kalabria” neighborhood in Pristina, where the largest landfill with inert waste was removed, with a total of 106 truckloads of waste. Then, the volunteers continued in the industrial zone in Fushë Kosovë / Kosovo Polje at the roundabout and bridge, from where 6 trucks were removed by the Kosovo Security Force. On 15th of September 2018 in Pristina, expect landfill in Kalabria and the one of industrial area in Fushë Kosovë, action “Let’s clean up Kosovo” has continued even in 12 other places too:

One landfill was removed at the parking lot of Pristina Stadium, near 21 square, was removed landfill in the field of Pajtim, landfill at the entrance to the parking lot of Gërmia, landfill along the railway on the highway M2, landfill behind the new municipality of Pristina, waste in front of American University in Kosovo AUK, landfill at vehicle market, landfill near Beni Dona, landfill in front of Elementary School “Asim Vokshi” at Kodra e Trimave, waste around University of Pristina areas, landfill at Street B (White apartment), landfill at Arbëria neighborhood (secondary street), landfill to the Dragodan circle-highway M2. Just like in Pristina where the action was launched, it has started at the other municipalities on 15th September 2018 too, and lot of municipal officials

Further, municipal officials involved in cleaning actions, together with the Task Force, have drawn up action plans that have been implemented during the quarterly clearance period like mayors, directors of directories, Elementary and High School students, NGO, associations, public and private companies and civil society have participated in these actions. As well, during this campaign there have been disposal phone numbers, emails and the webpage www.tapastrojmekosoven.com, for all the stakeholders that were interested to become part of the cleaning action. For more Let's do it, had provided transportation and logistical materials for the well-being and realization of the three-month action. Regarding to the management of waste accumulated, Ministry of Economic Development had decided that all waste accumulated in the cleaning actions with free charge would be sent to the landfill through the cleaning companies. In the clearing action of September 15, 2018 and until the end of the cleaning campaign, for participants was provided logistical materials such as: gloves, rake, trash bags, T-shirts, shovels, boots, working uniforms, water and food.

During the following months, attention will be paid to cleaning the rivers and irrigation canals, the task force will draw up a detailed plan for their cleansing. Among others, cleaning actions were also organized on Serb-majority municipalities, civil society organizations of non-majority communities. To coordinate the activities and cleaning actions in all Serb majority municipalities, during the "Let's clean up Kosovo" campaign a coordinator from the Serb community was defined.

Commitments of municipalities

Municipal task force have held regular coordination meetings by knowing that municipalities had the main role in implementation of cleaning actions and mobilizing local resources. With the representatives of these task forces were discussed activities, challenges and the progress of cleaning actions in municipality and national levels. Municipalities have been continuously contacted with "Let's Do It" team, at the national and municipal level, and as well they have coordinated activities with local coordinators. As well, a lot of municipalities had specified locations of legal inert landfills (22 municipalities), where also will be allowed discharge of construction waste. For more, all municipalities without distinction have collaborated with local communities, cleaning companies, schools, hospitals, police and other authorities to ensure success of cleaning actions
